Global Studies and Languages

Mission

Cultural competence and the development of a critical, analytical, and composition skills are crucial for career success in our world today. Global Studies and Languages was created by the joining of the department of Languages and Literatures and the International Studies program in order to more effectively and adequately prepare students for global leadership and employment. The goal of the Department of Global Studies and Languages is to impart skills in cross-cultural understanding, language, international diplomacy, and business abilities. The program at Idaho State University opens a world of opportunities for local and international careers in public service, health professions, entrepreneurship, and politics as students expand their talents and intellectual horizons beyond their own local experience. By enhancing their analytical and problem-solving skills, deepening their mastery of the history, politics, traditions, literature, and civilizations associated with other regions of the world, and speaking, listening, reading, and writing in languages other than English, students gain an understanding of areas as diverse as global market relations, communications and consumption, population movements, and the globalization of cultures, politics, and economies.

I: Global Studies Program

The Global Studies Program offers a Bachelor of Arts (BA) in Global Studies (https://www.isu.edu/globalstudies/global-studies/ba-global-studies). The program is interdisciplinary. Students are afforded the opportunity to explore a wide range of world cultures, languages, societies, and politics while building on a core curriculum of language, economics, international politics, international organizations, and human rights. A minor (https://www.isu.edu/globalstudies/global-studies/minor-in-global-studies) is also offered.

The Global Studies Program encourages students to develop a general understanding of language, culture, economics, and politics while simultaneously offering the opportunity to specialize in one of three areas: Political and Economic Development, Language, Literature, and Culture, The United States and World Affairs. (Please consult the ISU Event Calendar (https://www.isu.edu/calendar) for further material including information about the Frank Church Symposium on International Affairs, special seminars, and study abroad).

Our Graduates

Our graduates work in the diplomatic corps, international relations, Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs), and broadcasting/journalism or population studies. Other potential careers include cultural affairs officer, demographer, teaching and research, international business, foreign affairs analyst, intelligence researcher, interpreter and United Nations guide. Some of our recent graduates have secured opportunities to teach English in other countries, work for the Peace Corps, Immigration/Homeland Security, educational administration, embassies, financial marketplaces and also interpreting for Foreign Consulates. In today’s interdependent world an internationally sensitive background is valued highly by employers even when hiring for positions which do not involve explicit international work.

II: Languages Program

The Languages program offers a Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree in Spanish, a Bachelor of Arts (BA) in Languages for Business Professions, a Bachelor of Arts (BA) in Spanish for the Health Professions, minors in French, German, Spanish, and Japanese, and Certificates in Basic and Advanced language, and an Associate of Art (AA) degree in Russian. These courses prepare students for careers in the health professions, interpreting, translation, business, marketing, government, teaching, research, and public service. Language majors are expected to achieve satisfactory levels of proficiency in speaking, listening, reading, and writing and to acquire knowledge of the literature, history, and culture of a language. In addition, majors in languages can pursue interdisciplinary studies in related fields or add to more professional fields a foundational linguistic component advantageous for employment opportunities.

Minors in French, German, Japanese, and Spanish, and introductory and intermediate courses in Arabic, Chinese, Latin, and Russian provide an important component of the students’ general education in the Humanities and complement a wide variety of majors in other disciplines, increasing the ability to compete for jobs where a knowledge of one or more foreign languages is desired. The Department of Global Studies and Languages also teaches courses in comparative literature, literature in translation, film, and cultural studies designed for a broad audience, in particular for those who lack the language competency to read major works in their original language.

The Certificate in Basic Language, offered in French, German, and Japanese, provides students with a recognized, basic credential for completion of a coherent program of study consisting of 18 credits.

The Certificate in Advanced Language, offered in French, German, Japanese, and Spanish, provides students with a recognized credential for completion of a coherent program of study consisting of 21-24 credits. Both credentials give students more flexibility in how they demonstrate language proficiency to enhance marketability and career choice options. Two years (or equivalent) of a foreign language are prerequisites to all upper-division courses in French, German, Japanese, Russian and Spanish. However, the department reserves the right to place students at a level commensurate with their knowledge of a specific language.

Language Placement Testing

It is strongly recommended that all students with previous experience in French, German, or Spanish who have not yet taken a course in the language at Idaho State University take the free placement test to determine the appropriate course in which to enroll. Placement tests are free to ISU students and are offered in the Counseling and Testing Center (http://www.isu.edu/ctc) on the Second Floor (South Wing) of Graveley Hall. Results are available immediately upon completion of the exam. Students who have questions about how to determine an appropriate course after taking a placement exam should contact the Department of Global Studies and Languages at (208) 282-3043. Students who have no experience in a language should enroll in the first course in the language (i.e. FREN 1101).

Bachelor of Arts in Global Studies

The Global Studies Program offers to students an opportunity to expand their cultural, linguistic, and social horizons beyond their own local experience. As the world becomes increasingly interdependent, it demands of all of us an expanded knowledge of other people, their social and political institutions, and their culture. The program leads to a B.A. in Global Studies. There is no B.S. option.

The Global Studies Program encourages students to develop a general understanding of language, culture, economics, and politics while simultaneously offering the opportunity to specialize in one of three areas:

1. Political and Economic Development;
2. Language, Literature, and Culture; or
3. The United States and World Affairs.

Program Requirements and General Education

1. Sixteen (16) credits of a modern foreign language or the equivalent demonstrated competency are required for the major.
2. Students may receive up to 16 credits by examination (C.L.E.P., BYU Language Exams, or other exams approved by the Department) to be applied to their ISU transcripts with an "S" grade. Students who are proficient in a language other than English may satisfy one component of Objective 4 of the General Education Requirements by successfully earning four credits on one of these exams.
3. To complete a major, students must fulfill 8 of the 9 General Education Objectives (a minimum of 36 credits--see the General Education Requirements (http://coursecat.isu.edu/previouscatalogs/2018-19/undergraduate/academicinformation/generaleducation) described in the Academic Information section of this catalog).
4. ECON 2201 Principles of Macroeconomics (3 credits) and ECON 2202 Principles of Microeconomics (3 credits) are prerequisites to major electives and also partially satisfy General Education Objective 6.
5. GLBL 2202 The World Today:Introduction to Global Issues (3 credits) is a major elective, and it also satisfies General Education Objective 9.
