Overview

The Center for New Directions (CND) provides educational program information, student support services, and short term career and mental health counseling by licensed professional counselors and supervised counseling interns. The CND also provides resource and support services through a variety of workshops, classes, and groups designed to assist individuals as they enter and complete training and prepare for job placement. The CND offers scholarships for students who enroll in non-traditional technology programs as well as single parents at the College of Technology. All services are confidential and provided at no cost. Contact the CND for information about services on the Pocatello campus and at Idaho State Outreach Centers located in Blackfoot and American Falls.
