This department offers programs to prepare students for a variety of health occupations. The programs offer certificates, Associate of Applied Science, and Associate of Science degrees.

Bachelor's Degree Options

In each program that offers an Associate of Applied Science, the student may also elect to work towards either a Bachelor of Applied Science (<https://coursecat.isu.edu/undergraduate/academicinformation/individualizeddegreeprograms/>) or a Bachelor of Science in Health Science (BSHS) degree with a Health Occupations Concentration (<https://coursecat.isu.edu/undergraduate/divisionhealth/bachelorofscienceinhealthscience/#programstext>). In programs that lead to an Associate of Science, the student may also elect to work towards a BSHS degree with a Health Occupations Concentration. Students should consult with their program advisors about which university general education courses can be used to fulfill requirements for both the associate degrees and the BSHS degree.
