

Graduate Certificate in Environmental Studies

This certificate is for students who wish to pursue careers or other involvement in resource management, public policy, and environmental advocacy, an interdisciplinary background on social and environmental studies can provide a valuable context and skill set for professional advancement.

12 credits, which must be taken from at least 3 different departments. Must be enrolled in the Graduate School.

Code	Title	Credits
Anthropology:
ANTH 5502	Ecological Anthropology
ANTH 5525	Food and Culture
ANTH 5578	Federal Indian Law
ANTH 5581	Topics in Sociocultural Anthropology
English and Philosophy:
ENGL 5571	Literature and the Environment
Geosciences:
GEOL 5516	Global Environmental Change
History:
HIST 5526	Foodways in History
HIST 5530	Global Environmental History
HIST 5532	U.S. Environmental History
HIST 5533	History of Energy
Political Science:
POLS 5509	Community and Regional Planning
POLS 5537	Science and Technology Policy
POLS 5555	Environmental Politics and Policy
POLS 5562	International Sustainable Development
POLS 5566	Public Lands Policy
Total Credits:		12

*Relevant courses not listed here may be applied to this certificate at the discretion of the chair of History.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to explain and apply multi-disciplinary methods and concepts relating to environmental policy, management, research, cultural expression, and/or history.