Overview

The Department of Human Resource Development offers courses to prepare students for a Bachelor of Science degree in Workplace Training and Leadership (WTL), including an optional concentration in Career and Technical Education (CTE). Two master's degrees, a Master of Science in Human Resource Development (MS HRD) and a Master of Education in Instructional Design and Technology (MEd-IDT), are offered and described in the Graduate Catalog (<https://coursecat.isu.edu/graduate/>).

The baccalaureate program in the Department of Human Resource Development, aligned with State of Idaho educational standards, provides the adult learner with opportunities to engage in the processes of inquiring, learning, and applying known competencies within the fields of Human Resource Development and Career and Technical Education. Two stand-alone baccalaureate programs described separately in the School of Education, Business Education and Family Consumer Sciences, are also in the Department of Human Resource Development.

A course grade of "C-" is the minimum acceptable grade in an Organizational Learning and Performance (OLP or CTE prefix) course and/or required course. A course grade of "D+" or lower in any OLP or CTE prefix course and/or required course is unacceptable towards graduation and should be repeated.
